RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Healthy Kids Lab

August 2017- current

University of Cincinnati

Activities: Serve as director of the Healthy Kids Lab, including development of research projects, seeking grant funding to support research projects, disseminating findings from lab studies, and supervising students in the lab. Supervised research activities of student lab members. Graduate students: Katlyn Garr; Undergraduate students: Ashley Albrinck.

Fellowship Independent Project: Infant Birth Weight, Feeding, and Growth

July 2015- July 2017

Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center

Supervisor: Lori Stark PhD, ABPP

Activities: Designed a research protocol examining whether maternal feeding practices, directly observed infant sucking patterns during feedings, and indicators of child appetite and food responsiveness are related to infant weight-for-length and skinfold thickness. Differences in feeding practices, sucking patterns, appetite, and food responsiveness across birth weights (i.e., normal birth weight [$< 4000\text{g}$, $> 2500\text{g}$] versus high birth weight [$> 4000\text{g}$]) are also explored.

Learning about Activity and Understanding Nutrition for Child Health (LAUNCH)

July 2014- July 2017

Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center

Supervisor: Lori Stark, PhD, ABPP

Activities: Served as a therapist in an NIH-funded randomized control trial of a pediatric weight management program for preschoolers. Assisted in other aspects of treatment delivery (e.g., preparing feedback for participants, session planning). Assisted with aspects of data management and preparation for statistical analyses. Worked with study PI (Lori Stark, PhD, ABPP) and other fellows to conceptualize statistical analyses and prepare manuscripts representing study findings.

Doctoral Dissertation: Mealtime Behaviors Associated with Consumption of Unfamiliar Foods by Young Children with Autism

July 2012- July 2014

University of Kansas

Supervisors: Michael C. Roberts, PhD, ABPP, Meredith Dreyer Gillette, PhD, Susana Patton, PhD

Committee: Jeannine Goetz, PhD, RD, Matthew R. Reese, PhD, Ric G. Steele, PhD, ABPP, Michael

Rapoff, PhD

Activities: Developed protocol examining parent and child mealtime behaviors related to consumption of a new and unfamiliar food by young children with autism spectrum disorder. Conducted data collection through home visits and coded mealtime videos using the Dyadic Interaction Nomenclature for Eating (DINE).

Graduate Research Assistantship at the Center for Children's Healthy Lifestyles & Nutrition

July 2011- July 2014

University of Kansas Medical Center and Children's Mercy Kansas City

Supervisors: Ann McGrath Davis, PhD, ABPP & Meredith Dreyer Gillette, PhD

Activities: Completed data-analysis for projects examining topics such as child health behaviors, outcomes from pediatric weight management programs, and mealtime behaviors. Involved in write-up of results for publication and presentation. Developed a research protocol for assessing mealtime behaviors in children with special needs and assisted in preparation of an NIH R21 grant.

Roberts' Research Lab

August 2010- May 2014

University of Kansas

Supervisor: Michael C. Roberts, PhD, ABPP

Activities: Assisted in development, data collection, and dissemination of findings on a variety of projects within pediatric and clinical child psychology. Supervised undergraduate research assistants within the lab. Objectives of representative projects include examining 1) young adults' perceptions of children with medical conditions and mental health conditions, 2) the level of isolation and integration of research presented in the Journal of Pediatric Psychology, 3) benefits experienced by mentors in the field of pediatric psychology, and 4) experts' opinions on the future goals and activities of the InterDivisional Task Force on Children's Mental Health.

Creation and Analysis of Retrospective Diabetes Referral Database

May 2010- July 2010

Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center

Supervisor: Peggy Crawford, PhD

Activities: Collected retrospective data on children attending psychological services specifically for children with diabetes. Utilized medical charts and clinic records to obtain information about presenting problems, referral sources, treatment, and other variables related to their adherence and involvement in the clinic.

Master's Thesis: Effects of Parental Optimism and Coping on Psychosocial Outcomes of Pediatric Burn Patients and Their Parents

August 2008- July 2010

University of Dayton & Nationwide Children's Hospital

Supervisor: Keri Brown Kirschman, PhD

Committee: Catherine Butz, PhD, Roger Reeb, PhD

Activities: Conceptualized and collected data for master's thesis investigating the relationship between optimism in parents of pediatric burn patients under the age of 5 and adjustment of the parent and child following the injury.

Brown Kirschman Research Lab

August 2008- July 2010

University of Dayton

Supervisor: Keri Brown Kirschman, PhD

Activities: Assisted in project development, data collection, and supervision of undergraduate research assistants within the lab. Objectives of representative projects include examining use of helmets during media depictions of extreme sport participation and sibling supervisory behavior in a simulated hazards room.

Illness Management in Children and Young Adolescents with Type 1 Diabetes

May 2009 – May 2010

Center for the Promotion of Adherence & Self-Management

Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center

Supervisor: Dennis Drotar, PhD

Activities: Assisted in data collection by performing structured interviews, reviewing medical records, performing study visits with families, and collecting blood samples. Coded videos of a family conflict task and assisted in data management tasks.

Senior Thesis: Anxiety and Illness Perception in Children with Epilepsy

June 2007 – June 2008

University of Cincinnati

Supervisor: Laura Nabors, PhD

Activities: Conceptualized research study investigating the relationship between the views children with epilepsy hold of their illness and their level of generalized anxiety. Developed project protocol established collaboration with the Epilepsy Foundation of Cincinnati.

Children, Community, and Health Lab

March 2006- October 2007

University of Cincinnati

Supervisor: Laura Nabors, PhD

Activities: Assisted in development of a project examining family functioning and school support needed by children with hemophilia. Aided with evaluation of a camp for children with arthritis, including use of qualitative analysis strategies.

CLINICAL EXPERIENCE

Clinical Supervisor

Spring 2018

Behavioral Health Center, University of Cincinnati

Supervised graduate students seeing clinical treatment cases at the in-house training clinic of the UC Clinical Psychology doctoral program. Provided direct observation of student treatment sessions. Direct observation involved other graduate students as observers as well, and this opportunity was used to help observing graduate students develop their own clinical skills. Also conducted individual student supervision and provided a group didactic for new supervisees at the beginning of their practicum experience regarding clinic policies and techniques/strategies for engaging with first clients.

Umbrella Supervision

January 2017- June 2017

Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center

Supervisor: Sara Williams PhD

Provided clinical supervision to a psychology intern on an outpatient clinical child psychology case. Supervision was provided alongside a licensed clinical psychologist, who also provided feedback on my supervision to the intern and modeled supervision strategies.

Headache Clinic

April 2016- May 2017

Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center

Supervisor: Shalonda Slater PhD

Provided clinical services in conjunction with patients' medical appointments in the headache neurology clinic. Common presenting concerns included non-adherence, cognitive behavioral skills for pain management, and addressing underlying anxiety and mood symptoms.

Consultation Liaison

April 2016- June 2016

Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center

Supervisor: Carrie Piazza Waggoner PhD

Provided consultation liaison services for children and adolescents in the inpatient medical hospital.

Learning about Activity and Understanding Nutrition for Child Health (LAUNCH)

June 2015- November 2015

Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center

Supervisors: Lori Stark PhD ABPP, Stephanie Filigno PhD

Served as a therapist in a pediatric weight management program for preschoolers with obesity and their families. Led child-portion of group treatment sessions, including presentation of age-appropriate information about health/nutrition, leading physical activities, and managing child behaviors (e.g., refusal of new foods) through use of behavioral management techniques (e.g., positive reinforcement, modeling). Also served as therapist for in-home sessions with parents during which information from group sessions was tailored to the family's specific needs. Sessions included stimulus control in the home environment (e.g., identifying unhealthy foods in the home), modeling child behavior management techniques, and problem solving barriers to implementation of treatment goals. Also assembled biweekly feedback for families about food choices based on diet diaries.

Sleep Restriction and the Adolescent Diet: Impact and Mechanisms

Summer 2015 & 2016

Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center

Supervisor: Dean W. Beebe PhD

Activities: Completed clinical interviews using the KSADS to screen research participants for study eligibility at initial visit for a randomized trial examining the relationship between adolescent sleep restriction, brain responses to specific foods, dietary consumption, and physical activity.

O'Grady Residency in Behavioral Medicine

July 2014- July 2015

Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center

Experiences included direct patient care, testing report writing, clinical note writing, communication with other members of the multidisciplinary team, and co-leading group treatment. Activities were monitored through individual, group, and live supervision. Clinical rotations were completed in:

Pediatric Chronic Pain: Clinic-based interdisciplinary evaluation of chronic pain, including assessment of daily functioning and psychosocial factors impacting pain. Outpatient cognitive-behavioral treatment of chronic pain, including biofeedback, relaxation strategies, activity pacing, and healthy lifestyles education. Supervisor: Anne Lynch-Jordan PhD

Neuropsychology Testing: Assessment of cognitive, academic, language, visuospatial, attention, working memory, fine motor, behavioral, and adaptive functioning, including diagnostic interviews, test administration, and report writing. Supervisor: Dean Beebe, PhD, ABPP-Cn

Pediatric Diabetes: Group treatment targeting improved disease self-management and parent-child communication about diabetes concerns. Co-led parent group. Supervisor: Jessica Kichler, PhD

Gastroenterology: Clinic-based brief psychological interventions conducted with patients with a variety of GI diagnoses, including Inflammatory Bowel Disease and Irritable Bowel Syndrome. Focus of interventions included adherence to medication, coping skills for managing pain and anxiety, mindfulness approaches, adjustment to diagnosis, and supporting psychosocial functioning. Also completed outpatient therapy with patients referred from the clinic. Supervisor: Michael Mellon PhD, ABPP

New Onset Seizure Clinic: Clinic-based brief assessments of child functioning (school, emotional, family, physical) and psychological interventions conducted with patients with seizure diagnoses. Focus of interventions included behavioral problems, adherence to medications, and adjustment to diagnosis. Supervisor: Shanna Guilfoyle PhD

Headache Clinic: Conducted biofeedback and relaxation training with patients, including the skills of diaphragmatic breathing, guided imagery, and progressive muscle relaxation. Provided psychoeducation on importance of healthy lifestyle habits in conjunction with new patient visits to Headache Clinic. Used behavioral interventions to improve adherence to recommendations and address barriers to healthy habits. Supervisor: Shalonda Slater PhD

Year-Long Outpatient Therapy: Provided outpatient evidence-based therapies for presenting problems such as sleep difficulties, adjustment, anxiety, depression, and attention/hyperactivity. Supervisor: Michelle Ernst, PhD

Health Psychology Practicum

August 2013- May 2014

University of Kansas Medical Center

Supervisor: Michael Rapoff, PhD

Completed a year-long practicum in a hospital setting including rotations in inpatient consultation liaison, telehealth, the cancer center, a rehabilitation and women's wellness clinic, and inpatient neurorehabilitation psychology. Services were provided to both children and adults. Activities were monitored through both individual and group supervision.

University of Kansas Child and Family Services Clinic

August 2010- May 2014

Supervisors: Eric Vernberg, PhD, ABPP, Ric G. Steele, PhD, ABPP, Julie Boydston PhD, Yo Jackson, PhD, ABPP, & Stephen Lassen, PhD

Conducted intake interviews, assessments (including comprehensive report writing), and individual and family treatment (including parent training) with children and adults attending the clinical child psychology program department clinic. Assessment cases ranged from adult psychoeducation assessments to child psychoeducational and pervasive developmental disorder assessments. Treatment cases ranged from young children to adolescents and focus on predominantly internalizing disorders or behavior problems. Activities were monitored through both individual and group supervision.

Endocrinology Practicum

January 2013- July 2013

Children's Mercy Kansas City

Supervisor: Anna Egan PhD, ABPP

Conducted psychoeducation and psychosocial assessments for children diagnosed with type 1 diabetes or episodes of hypoglycemia. Provided co-therapy alongside a licensed clinical psychologist to address adherence, adjustment, behavior problems, and internalizing symptoms in children with type 1 diabetes or youth with disorders of sexual differentiation.

Weight Management Practicum

September 2012- July 2013

Children's Mercy Kansas City

Supervisor: Meredith Dreyer Gillette, PhD

Provided co-therapy alongside a licensed clinical psychologist in a multidisciplinary clinic addressing child overweight and health habits in children with special needs, such as autism, Down syndrome, or other chromosomal abnormalities. Also assisted with delivering a group, family-based weight management program alongside a licensed psychologist and dietitian. Group program addressed family-based change to diet and exercise for young children and their families.

BEST MEALS: Behavioral and Educational Solutions That Make Eating Activities

Less Stressful

January 2011- December 2012

University of Kansas Medical Center

Supervisor: Susana Patton, PhD

Activities: Provided an intervention aimed at increasing knowledge regarding diabetes and disease management to children between the ages 2-6 years. This intervention was a piece of a larger program that also included parent training and education on appropriate mealtime behaviors. Trained in Dyadic Interaction Nomenclature for Eating (DINE) coding and coded mealtimes of children with T1DM.

Center for Attention Deficit & Hyperactivity

January 2007- December 2007

Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center

Supervisor: Joshua Langberg, PhD

Served as a counselor to elementary school children with Attention-Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder during an after-school program focusing on reinforcement of positive behavior and organizational skills.

Didactic portion of training included focus on symptoms, treatments, and challenges of ADHD.
