

"You cannot get through a single day without having an impact on the world around you. What you do makes a difference, and you have to decide what kind of difference you want to make"

– Jane Goodall

Interdisciplinary Panel: For Future Generations: Toward Environmental, Social, and Economic Sustainability

Sustainability is key to ensuring that our actions today don't compromise future generations. But how do we balance the competing environmental, economic, and social challenges we face? What impact do our daily choices have on these complex, interconnected systems?

The Faculty Enrichment Center invites you to a stimulating panel session, interactive discussion on Tuesday, October 25th from 2:30 - 4:00pm surrounding these questions and more.

Join us to engage in an interdisciplinary conversation with fellow faculty and discover strategies for resiliency.

Panelists

Andrew Bernier, Assistant Professor
School of Education

Andrew Bernier is a Visiting Assistant Professor of STEM Education in UC's School of Education and holds a PhD in Sustainability Education from Prescott College.

Bob Hyland, Associate Professor Educator
Department of English

Bob Hyland is an Associate Professor Educator in the Rhetoric and Professional Writing track of UC's Department of English.

David Stradling, Professor
Department of History

David Stradling is the Zane L. Miller Professor of History in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Elizabeth Payne, Assistant Professor
CCM

Elizabeth Payne received her BA in Theatre and Art from Morehead State University in Kentucky and her MFA in Design for the Stage and Film from New York University, Tisch School of the Arts.

Kelly Grimes, Postdoctoral Fellow
Cincinnati Children's Hospital

Kelly Grimes is a postdoctoral fellow at Children's that has been working to promote sustainability within the research labs.

Mauricio Espinoza, Assistant Professor
Department of Romance and Arabic Languages and Literatures

Mauricio Espinoza is a Costa Rican-born educator, researcher, poet and translator. He holds a Ph.D. in Latin American Literatures and Cultures from The Ohio State University.

REGISTER NOW

Location: Faculty Enrichment Center 540 F/G (Langsam Library)

Tuesday, October 25, 2022
2:30 PM to 4:00 PM

Questions? Email: EnrichFaculty@uc.edu